

Statement of Sara Williams

To whom this may concern:

I, Sara Williams, am a co-founder of LGA, the company's V.P. of Sales and Marketing, and Marty Williams' wife. Marty is the inventor of the subject patent and another co-founder of LGA.

Over the last five years, I have had concerns develop about the organizational level of the company's IP portfolio. I did not have enough experience or expertise in this area to formally and firmly express my concerns, concerns which again were somewhat nebulous, given my lack of operating experience with legal issues. My legal inexperience, and the experience of others in the company, is also one of the main reasons why we hired and had legal counsel that specialized in Intellectual Property. It was my understanding that our counsel was attending to and maintaining our intellectual property and therefore I did not become more familiar with patent procedure, fees and required payments.

Our counsel continually informed us that everything was under control. However, we have now found out that multiple patents and applications have gone abandoned. We relied entirely on our counsel to maintain our portfolio and we truly believed that everything was in order. Through no fault of our own our patents and applications went abandoned. Therefore, we respectfully request that the United States Patent and Trademark Office allow this petition for revival.

I hereby declare that all statements made herein of my own knowledge are true and that all statements made on information and belief are believed to be true; and further that these statements were made with the knowledge that willful false statements and the like so made are punishable by fine or imprisonment or both under Section 1001 of the Title 18 of the United States Code and that such willful false statements may jeopardize the validity of the application or any patent issuing thereon.

Sincerely,
